TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 26, 1876.

As was generally expected the Georgia delegation at St. Louis yesterday made Gov. James M. Smith its chairman. Right and proper!

THE St. Louis correspondent of the New York Times thinks Thurman will be nominated at St. Louis. We think it will be the oth-Thur-man.

MILTON SAYLOR, of Cincinnati, is now temporary speaker of the house. Milt is a good tellow and deservedly popular at home and abroad.

THERE is considerable summer sickness about the city. These minor complaints should receive prompt attention, particularly so with children.

HENRY B. PAYNE, of Ohio, is named as the compromise, if one is necessary, at St. Louis. He is said to be able to whip out Hayes in Ohio, and to be as rich as Sam Tilden. These are good qualifications for the place.

THE deeper the investigating committee goes into his official vacillations the sicker Jim Blaine grows. A change of climate is suggested by his physicians —yea, even the safe and wholesome air of Canada!

DON CAMERON, the new secretary of war, is already beginning to mix up the military affairs in the south. This is shrewdly claimed to be the first step in the programme agreed upon by the powers that be for the capture of the southern states and their electorial votes.

GEN. WASHINGTON, JR., went to St. Louis Be sure and grand in unison palace cars by a new locomotive named "John Kelly." They are all for Parker of New Jersey. There will be nothing more to add to the history of their journey except the solemn and woeful return.

HENRY WATTERSON is temporary chairman of the St. Louis convention to-day. This is a tribute to the press and—er-ah! it may be another of Tilden's "advertisements?" Will some of the immaculate bob-tails rise up and ask Watterson how much he gets for acting as temporary chairman?

THERE are strong reasons for believing that the democracy will secure the eight electoral votes of Louisiana in the fall campaign. The people of that much oppressed but ever gallant commonwealth believe that if Hon. D. B. Penn is nominated for governor at the July convention he can carry the state with the intensest enthusiasm.

SOMEHOW the first reports received in Atlanta get confused in transmission when they concern county meetings to send delegates to the gubernatorial convention. We have had several instances recently. There seems to be a difficulty in getting reliable reports. We trust our friends throughout the state will make it a point to keep the CONSTITUTION fully and correctly posted.

TO-DAY AT ST. LOUIS.

Much as may be said of the crises of the past, occurring at periods within the one hundred years of the nation's life, to-day at St. Louis presents to the country an episode upon the result of which depends the greatest consequences. The popular party—the people's party—of the country meets in convention in that city to place before the people candidates for the two highest offices to which popular suffrages can elevate an American citizen. The democratic centennial candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency are to be chosen by that body of representatives fresh from the bosoms of the people.

Four years of unusual war, full of the most desperate hazards and the most terrible results, have receded without regrets into the thickening gloom of the past. Eleven years of political war, chicanery, reconstruction through unrepublican methods, and general public corruption have gone to join the bloodier antecedents. Now the people are happily awaking to the true principles which go to make up our form of government and to the rights and just requirements of the times, irrespective of sections or parties. The truth is, we believe, gaining its ascendancy and the nation is returning to that high road of honorable action and harmonious policy which once made it the proudest upon the globe In this state of affairs the people, hopeless of reform, amendment and honesty from the party which has so outraged every right and principle of true government, are looking to the democracy to put forth the true exponent of these splendid ideas and lead the country forward in the line of her truest glory. The convention to-day will be the point of all American interest. Its voice will arrest the people in their every pursuit and if wisdom, justice and moderation govern their deliberations and point it to the will of the people, the nominations made at St. Louis will be re-echoed in a grand majority at the polls in November and the country have reason to rejoice in its centennial glories.

THE COURTS.

Fulton Superior Court.

HON. C. PEEPLES, JUDGE.

Court met at its regular hour, and took up the criminal docket. The following cases were disposed of:

State vs Daniel Brooks. Burglary. Trial; verdict, not guilty.

State vs. William Lacy. Burglary. Plea, guilty of larceny from the house; sentence, six months hard labor on the county works.

Same vs Moses Green. Assault with intent to murder. The charge against Moses is that on the 3d day of June, 1876, he assulted Henry Robeson with a knife and stabbed him. Trial; verdict, guilty of stabbing; sentence, nine months labor on the public works.

Court adjourned to meet at half past eight o'clock this morning.

THE CITY COURT.

HON R H CLARKE, JUDGE.

Court met at half past 8 o'clock. A few small cases were disposed of, and one defendant was fined fifty dollars for gambling, on a plea of guilty.

The court then adjourned to meet at its usual hour Wednesday.

Eloquent Tribute.

At the funeral of Judge Thomas J. Burney, at Madison, Rev David E Butler paid the following eloquent tribute to his memory:

Here lies Stephen save his martyrdom The deceased.....th father for nearly a quarter of a century.

When I came to Madison he was the first to meet me. I have since loved him a d if any thought, any word or any deed as caused a ripple on the stream of our friendship, I am unaware of it. Were the earthly remains of him who was a man. He was a great man because he was a good man he was profound because he was honest; as a father, husband, friend, citizen or Christian, he was the peer of any man. I have walked, traveled labored, slept, and prayed with him; I have stood by his sickbed as I now stand by his corpse, and I know I will stand by his memory so long as I shall live. In 1854 he was the first person to join this church after its constitution. The last one of that faithful band who then composed this church, he is now gathered with the redeemed, having crossed over the river, to rest in the shade of the trees." In 1855 or 1854 he was made treasurer of the board of trustees of Mercer university, which position he resigned last July, a year ago, by reason of age and declining health. He was also chosen treasurer of the Georgia Baptist convention, which office he was discharging at the time of his death. Hundreds of thousands of dollars passed through his hands in connection with these two responsible offices, yet he never made a mistake, but always had his accounts all correct. Just as these accounts have been examined, found correct, and approved by his brethren here below, so, I believe, has his Christian stewardship been examined, found correct, and approved by the Great Head of the Church above. Is it not an honor to embrace such a man? There was no presumption in him, his manhood consisted in his integrity and humidity His friendship beaming from hi very face was as strong as life itself, and his modesty was as great as that of Moses

I saw him but a few days before he died—cool, calm and earnest in his devotion to the Savior We were alone. I quoted a passage of scripture which he also repeated, though it was painful to talk: "I know in whom I trust, etc" Grasping his hand I asked him if he was still resigned and hopeful.

Let us imitate the example which he has handed down—a rich legacy—to his sons and daughters. He is to-day basking in eternal sunshine, a son of God, a joint heir of glory. Is not this a sufficient compensation for the forty years of trial he spent in the service of his master.

Miss Porter's High School.

GRIFFIN, June 24th 1876.

Editors Constitution: Last Wednesday night, the pupils of Miss Mollie Porter's high school produced at Scheuman's opera house a cantata written by Prof. Henry Schoeller of Dalton entitled "New year's eve."

Part first introduces us to New years eve.

"Old Father Time" appears to remind "The Old Year," who is still sitting on his throne, that his race is almost run, and pointing to the lessening sands in his hour-glass calls on him to give an account of the moments which were allotted to him. The "Old Year," in reply summons the Four Seasons and his twelve daughters, the twelve months, to his presence requesting them to answer for themselves. "Spring," "Summer," "Autumn" and "Winter," attended by their sprites and the different months they control, enter now, each in her turn, addressing "Father Time." After "Winter's" address, the "Old Year," in order to lengthen out his moments, asks "Father Time" to stay a little longer, saying the "Four Seasons with his twelve daughters would entertain him with picture scenes from their experience." "Time" reluctantly consents, and the "Old Year" now bids the four seasons and the twelve months to go and prepare the entertainment.

In part second:

"Spring," attended by "Zephyr" and "Dew-drop," enters, and announces to "Time" that the picture is prepared for him, and bids her airy heralds to open the inner curtain, disclosing the tableau: "Crowning of the May Queen." As soon as the chorus from the tableau is ended, "Spring" and attendants retire. "Time," when asked by the "Old Year" if the scene has pleased him, replies, that it is pretty, but wishes to know if sport is the end and aim of life.

"Summer," attended by "Sunshine" and "Rainbow," now enters. At the command of "Summer," her attendants open the inner curtain, disclosing the tableau: "A Summer Picnic" The "Old Year" again challenges the admiration of his guest, but "Time" replies that moments passed in slothful ease and enjoyment are not all profitably spent, and intimates a hope that, as one-half of the year has been wasted, the remainder may give evidence of a more profitable disposition of its moments.

"Autumn," attended by "Jack Frost" and "Cloud," enters and at the command of "Autumn," they open the inner curtain disclosing the tableau, "A Harvest Scene." The "Old Year" questions his guest "Time" replies in a somewhat better satisfied manner, "that certainly industry is more commendable than sloth, and a proper provision for necessities more desirable than wasteful pleasure, but still that he considers time spent in a selfish seeking after one's own good as part wasted."

"Winter," attended by "Snow" and "Sleet," enters and at command the latter opens the inner curtain, presenting the tableau a magnificently illuminated star, with the inscription around it, "Peace on earth, good will to men" A group of shepherdesses, who have arisen from their seats on the floor, stands in various attitudes, gazing in amazement and wonder, their flocks around them singing the hymn, "Glory to God in the highest" "Time" at last expresses his satisfaction that some of the precious moments of his gift to the "Old Year" has been rightly spent but reminds him that the sands are sinking fast, and bids him to prepare to yield his throne, sceptre and crown.

With the third part the four seasons, with their respective attendants, and the different months they control, enter in slow procession, and as soon as all are in their proper positions, they sing a "farewell chorus" to the "Old Year." "Time" now requests the "Old Year" to yield his throne to his successor, who is, during this address, escorted on the stage by "Christmas" and "santa Claus." The clock strikes twelve, at which moment "Time" removes the "Old Year" from the throne, and places the "Young Year" on it and crowns him. "Time" and the "Old Year" now walk hand in hand slowly off from the stage, while the remaining characters sing a "Welcome Chorus" to the "Young Year."

The following are the principal characters:

The Old Year, H L Porter; Old Father Time, J M Jones; Christmas, Wm Williams; santa Claus, Will Powell; The Young Year, Rowell Drake; Spring, Celeste Williams; Summer, Kittie Westbrook; Autumn, Anna Sutton; Winter, Willie Nelson; January, Susie Huff; February, Anna Lawton; March, Nettie Purvis; April, Katie McLure; May, Mamie Corbin; June, Georgie Martin; July, Maggie Thomson; August, Annie Stewart; September, Nora Fiynt; October, Miss Tyler Bridges; November, Mattie Skipper; December, Minnie Jossey; Zephyr, Emma McWilliams; Dewdrop, Miss Clifford Putnam; Sunshine, Estelle King; Rainbow, Jennie Flemister; Cloud, Lizzie Bloodworth; Jack Frost, Kittie Caswell; Snow, Minnie Powell; Sleet, Hattie Nelms.

The principal solo singers were H L Porter, J W Jones, W Williams, Will Powell, Miss Celeste Williams, Miss Kittie Westbrook, Miss Anne Sutton, and Miss Willie Nelson. The cantata was a grand success. The costumes were splendid and the music with Orchestra accompaniments fine.

The closing exercises on Thursday night drew a crowded house. The music was rendered at the concert with exquisite grace, and the recitations remarkably fine.

The valedictory address delivered by Miss Hattie Nelms who graduated at the head of the class, was beautiful and simple and evidenced a well poised mind and a heart free from guile.

Rev. W. A. Rodgers, president of the Dalton female college delivered an address as beautiful as it was brilliant, and as eloquent as it was brief. While this is a temperance town, every body loves Porter. DON PEDRO.

Col. J. W. Nash.

We are authorized to state that Col. J. W. Nash will authorize his friends to bring his name before the gubernatorial convention. Should, however, the convention so far overlook the interests of the state as to nominate some other man, the colonel has then decided to run as an independent candidate. This information is deemed best to be gratifying to the colonel's many friends.

"COME TO ORDER!"

THE CONVENTION FORMALLY OPENED FOR BUSINESS.

The People of the Union Answering to the Roll-Call.

Georgians Appointed on the Various Committees.

Special to the Constitution.

ST. LOUIS, June 27, 1:10 P. M.

The convention met at the appointed time and place as stated in the programme of opening as previously published.

The convention was called to order by Hon Augustus Schell, of New York, chairman of the national democratic executive committee.

It was proposed and unanimously agreed to that Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, should be temporary chairman of the convention.

The chair upon respective motions named the following committees:

Committee on credentials.

Committee on permanent organization.

Committee on resolutions and platform.

Gen. P. M. B Young is the member from Georgia upon the committee on credentials.

Hon. J. J. Jones is the member from Georgia upon the committee on permanent organization.

Hon. E. P. Howell is the member from Georgia upon the committee on resolutions and platform.

Hon. Geo. T. Barnes is placed upon the national executive committee.

Hon. Rufus E. Lester is the vice president of the convention representing Georgia.

Present indications favor the nomination of Gov. Tilden, of New York.

The Georgia delegation will doubtless cast a mixed vote upon the first ballot. A majority of them are for the nomination of Tilden.

There is a fierce contest over the nomination, and New York will eventually agree to support Tilden. The prospects are that Tilden will be named, and that despite past feelings of difference harmony will prevail. E. Y. C.

A WORD OF WARNING FROM THE "DRY SOS."

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—The convention convenes at 12 M.

The following was received:

NEW YORK, June 27, 1876.

President of Democratic Convention, St. Louis, Mo:

The international temperance congress, held in Philadelphia, sends greeting and the earnest prayer of many thousands of Christian citizens that in your centennial platform about to be adopted, you will pronounce against the traffic of alcoholic liquors as a chief cause of crime, pauperism and political corruption, and nominate as your candidates for president and vice-president total abstainers from intoxicating beverages and supporters of the prohibition of the liquor traffic as the true national legislative policy.

[Signed,] WM. E. DODGE, president.

AN OUTSIDER'S IMPRESSIONS.

Telegram to the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The New York Times this morning editorially says the chances are that if the democratic convention proceeds to ballot for its candidate to-day, the nominee will be Sam J. Tilden. What combinations might result from another night of fighting, shouting and intriguing, is impossible to guess, but so far the opponents of Tilden have shown neither generalship nor organization and the triumph of his friends has been easy and complete. Tilden now lacks only thirty-eight votes of the requisite two-thirds, and there are but two somewhat improbable accidents relied on to defeat him. One is the release of New York delegates from the operation of the unit rule, and the other is the holding of the Pennsylvania delegation long enough to the support of Hancock to gain the Allen and Thurman vote, and eventually break the ranks of Tilden, but Tammany hall has given up the fight, and the complete demoralization of the cohorts of Kelly could be caused by nothing short of the impending certainty of defeat.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE ADOPTED.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Waterson, temporary chairman. The rules of the last convention were adopted until otherwise ordered.

Cries—"Does that include the two-thirds rule?"

Answers from all over the house—"Yes," and the chairman said "yes." [Applause.]

Recess to 5 p. m.

Derby's Assurances.

Telegram to the Constitution.

LONDON, June 27.—In the house of lords, Lord Derby said England's line of action is clear. We would gladly reconcile the porte and the insurgents, but we have no right or wish to take the part of either in a purely internal quarrel. That is the rule on which we have acted in time not remote, on civil wars far more extensive and sanguinary. We are in communication with the porte and other powers with the view of offering such counsels as seem useful. We have been charged in some quarters with favoring the Turks. The charge is utterly unfounded. No one supposed the maintenance of the Ottoman empire possible if the Christians become permanently disaffected. The problem is to reconcile their reasonable wishes with the maintenance of a system which cannot be overthrown without a general convulsion.

The Enthusiastic Northwest.

St. Paul Dispatch

The following is the average republican dialogue when a couple of the faithful meet:

First republican—Who is Hayes, any way?

Second republican—Who in hell is Wheeler?

Each one gives up the conundrum, and they move on to the nearest saloon with the greatest solemnity.

Released.

Telegram to the Constitution.

LONDON, June 27.—Wm. E. Gray, a New York forger, held here for extradition, has been discharged.

CHARLESTON, June 26.—The centennial regatta of the South Carolina regatta association opened this morning with the race for four oar snells, two miles straight away with the tide. There were four entries. The Palmetto shell won; the Electric shell, second, time 127 minutes, 7 seconds. The city is filled with visitors, including most of the crack military companies of Georgia and Carolina to attend the Fort Moultrie centennial on the 28th.

ACCUSED OF BIGAMY.

A Darkey Charged With Having One too Many Wives.

George McGee, a colored man, is in trouble from too much marrying. George is rather a prepossessing looking darkey, and the other night was arrested together with a girl named Julia. To get out of his trouble, George concluded to get married, and he and Julia were made one at the guard-house with all due solemnity the following morning. Yesterday a woman named Cather ne McCombs appeared upon the scene and claimed that she was Mrs McGee proper, and that the other was a fraud. Nothing would satisfy her but a warrant for bigamy, and accordingly George and his wife were arrested. He says it is all a put up job, and that he can prove his innocence. The case will be tried before a magistrate to-day.

Crop Notes.

—Carrollton Times: Mr. E. G. Kramer's clover patch consists of one-eleventh of an acre and we are informed that he realized from it 800 pounds of clover, or at the rate of 8,800 pounds per acre.

—Ringgold Courier: The heavy rains of last week prostrated a large portion of the oat crop in this county.

—Cuthbert Appeal: The peach crop is an entire failure. We have not seen even a green one, and have heard no one speak of having any.

—Macon Telegraph: We hear of a timid farmer who has been improving five acres of poor, sandy land for nine years. He has broke his land one inch to one and a half inches deeper every year, which he says is better than to turn so much green soil to the surface at once. He uses home-made compost broad cast before breaking up his land, then uses cotton seed in the drill. He plants in three and a half feet rows and ten to twelve inches in the drill. He will make, with the continuation of good seasons this, year seventy-five bushels of corn per acre, with a good crop of peas. He says the cost of fertilizing has cost forty-five or fifty per acre for the nine years, —Cumming Clarion: Striped bugs, resembling a terrapin, have commenced depredations on the gardens. The bug worms have played sad havoc with bottom land corn this spring Planting is yet going on. The wheat crop was so badly damaged by the fly and rust that a great deal of it fell down so that it could not be saved.

—Cave Spring Enterprise: We have shown a statement by one of our farmers, giving an account of his turnout of wheat, and it is supposed to be about an average yield of wheat in this neighborhood the present year:

22 bushels of seed	$27 50
Ploughing in wheat	15
Blue stone	00
Cutting and hauling	00
Thrashing	5 00
	$69 15

CREDIT.

42 bushels wheat, $1 15	$48 20
	$20 95

—Cedartown Record: Mr. Chas. H Wood informed us a few days ago, that he sowed ten acres of his poorest land in grazing oats in August last, pastured them down twice during the winter, and has reaped a fine crop—he thinks 150 bushels. His seed oats and sowing cost him $10 50, and the grazing during the winter was worth more to his stock than the cost of saving, and the straw, after the oats are threshed will be worth for manure, the cost of the seed and sowing; so he has 150 bushels of fine oats that cost him nothing, on land that he considers the poorest on his farm. These oats were slightly mixed with wheat, and this wheat is the best he has seen this year.

NOTICE TO THE

RUPTURED!

Dr. J. A. Sherman respectfully notifies the public that in consequence of his unparalleled success in the relief and cure of Rupture, for the past thirty years, certain unprincipled persons are traveling about the country imposing upon the afflicted, under the pretence of having been his assistant and understanding his method. He has heretofore employed several Germans as mechanics and assistants in keeping his books, and helping with his extensive correspondence, who proved dishonest, carrying away his property to open business for themselves. In some instances they were discovered and large quantities of his property regained. The unwarranted and extensive use of Dr. Sherman's name by these shameless fellows as a subterfuge by which to delude the afflicted, makes it his imperative duty to put the public on their guard. It is a well settled fact that those who are dishonest with confiding employers will practice their dishonesty to an unlimited extent towards unsuspecting strangers. Dr. Sherman has no agents, nor has he ever given any one much less these charlantans, instructions in his method of treating Rupture. Their only capacity consists in impudence and presumption. They use Dr. Sherman's advertisements, extract from his book and show photographs of his patients, the more successfully to delude and deceive those who chance to fall into their hands.

DR. SHERMAN,

further has the pleasure of announcing to the citizens of Atlanta and vicinity, that he will soon visit them, thus giving the Ruptured an opportunity of consulting him in person and availing themselves of his assistance and remedies.

THE Graphic has given fine portraits of the Cincinnati nominee, but this week it will have the unusual pleasure of giving the people the physiognomies of the men who are to represent them in the highest offices in the land for the next four years.

THE fact that a compromise candidate will win the honors at St Louis does not sit well upon the minds of the people. Some how or other they have come to look upon Tilden, Hendricks or Hancock as the coming man and it will be cried indeed to disappoint them.

HENDRICKS would make a strong head to the centennial candidate of the national democratic party. He is a first-class man in every respect, and we know of no one in whose elevation to the presidency we would take particular interest to a larger extent. If Hendricks is the man we will shout just as strong as ever.

CHARLESTON'S CENTENNIAL.

Arrival of the Visitors—A Magnificent Reception.

Telegram to the Constitution.

CHARLESTON, June 27.—The steamer Charleston from New York, covered with bunting, and bearing a pine tree at her bow reached her dock here at Boston light infantry and old guard of New York. The whole water front of the city was decorated with flags of welcome. Visitors were received by a command of one hundred leading citizens, and by the German Fusileers, a revolutionary corps, and the Washington light infantry. Col. Trenholm, chairman of the citizens committee, welcomed them briefly on the wharf, informing them that they would be the guests of the citizens during their stay. They were then escorted to Masonic Hall, where they were entertained by the military and after wards taken to their quarters at the St. Charles Hotel. To-night the formal reception of the visiting military from Massachusetts, New York, Georgia and the Carolinas will take place at the academy of Masic. The reception of the northern companies was exceedingly cordial, and the whole city wears a gala appearance in anticipation of the centennial celebration to-morrow. The stars and stripes are everywhere displayed, and massive triumphal arches are erected, spanning the leading thoroughfares.

Mitchel County Resolutions—General Colquitt Endorsed.

Whereas we, the people of Mitchell consider that the governor of the state, as the chief magistrate should be a Christian gentleman; as the chief executor, should be possessed of wisdom, justice, and moderation; and that as the chief commander of the army of the state he should be a patriot and a soldier. Be it therefore,

Resolved, that in the person of Gen. Alfred H. Colquitt we recognize one who has been tried in private and public life, and on the battle field, and has never ceased to receive the united plaudits of his friends nor found wanting by his enemies. A more solid and patriotic man does not exist this day, and one that loves his county and whom his county loves. Be it further,

Resolved that we publicly express our admistration of the distinguished gentleman and our desire that of all of Georgia's devoted children, this noble one shall be invested with her highest trust, that of governor.

South Carolina's Capital.

COLUMBIA, S.C. June 26, 1876.

Editors Constitution: You may think that you Atlanta boys have all the fun to yourselves and that, as your place is the center of the southern hub we know nothing in this black-officered city. Had you been here a few days since when the accomplished Misses S. L. H., of Atlanta, A. E. and M. L. H., of Seneca, and A. H. G. and L. D. Mc., of Williamstown were on a visit, stopping at the Mansion house, I am sure you would have enjoyed the extreme desire the young ladies manifested to oblige the proprietor and chamber-maid at the hotel. They blew out the gas at night in their room for economy's sake, got up in the morning and insisted on making up their own beds, and when the maid wished to supply them with fresh water they very politely informed her that they did not wish to trouble her, and seizing a couple of buckets, off they posted to the pump in the yard and supplied themselves. Of course the chambermaid soon gave reputation to the fun-loving girls, and at breakfast while all were eager to know what next, and the bill of fare being handed them notified the waiter that they came to breakfast to eat not to read, it was yet a matter of doubt whether they were in earnest or jest. The proprietor says that they proposed to wash their own dishes and set their part of the table if he would deduct a quarter from their bills. When they got ready to leave, they all dressed in party full dress and took the train.

Now see here, old fellow, the boys here are yet in doubt about these misses. Were they trying to green us? or were they in dead earnest? If the former, then their actions were so natural and they attended to their parts so well, that I advise that you get them into some of your amateur clubs—if not let me know if their mothers know they are out. ST. LOUIS, June 27—3:50 P. M.

Hon. Augustus Schell, president of the democratic national convention, in opening the convention alluding to the democratic party as being in favor of hard money but no forced resumption, was greeted with immense applause. He urged the immediate repeal of the resumption act. [Immense applause.]

Mr. Watterson, in taking the chair, made a short speech, the leading idea of which was an honest government by honest men. He made a plea for the restoration of the south, and for equality and justice.

The two-third rule was adopted.

Miss Cozzes presented the women's petition, which was referred.

A recess from 2 to 5 o'clock was taken, when the ballot will probably begin.

THE GRAND ENTREE.
Special to the Constitution.

ST. LOUIS, June 27, 6:50 P. M.

Gen. G. A. McClernan, of Illinois, was elected as permanent president of the convention by the committee on organization, almost unanimously. This is another victory for Tilden.

The convention met according to adjournment.

Committee on credentials report no contests, but reported that all delegates were entitled to their seats. Adopted.

Gen. G A McClernn, was reported as the president of the convention with loud cheers and applause.

General Fitzhugh Lee, Messrs. Dorshelmer and Voorhees were appointed to escort Gen. McClernan to the chair, amid wild cheering. E. Y. C assembled in the hall of the chamber of commerce. The hall was handsomely decorated and the delegates promptly seated. The convention was called at 12:20 p. m. by Augustus Schell.

MR. SCHELL'S REMARKS.

In calling order he submitted some brief remarks upon the purposes of this convention to nominate a candidate whose election shall change the government and overthrow corruption, and produce administration reforms demanded by the people. [Applause.] He said the corruption now existing in the government must be buried. This duty must be confided to the hands not of those who now hold the government, but to the democratic party. The thing to be reformed can't be reformed by itself. The people are intelligent and sagacious. They understand their rights, and will not again trust their interests to the republican party. Hereferred to the democratic party as the the hard money party from the beginning. He said it was a trick to try to saddle on it the present policy inconsistent with hard money principles. All the acts authorizing paper money as legal tender and the opinion of the supreme court sustaining it were all done during a republican administration. He then referred briefly to the evil results. The remedy was not rapid contraction or an increase of the currency, but the one remedy at this time is a

REPEAL OF THE RESUMPTION ACT.

Do that and give the democratic party the reins of government and their policy of the one money and sound finance will bring specie payments speedily. [Applause.] This centennial of national independence, we have met to devise means to restore the country to prosperity. May we not hope that after sixteen years of republicanism the democratic party may resume its supremacy in the government. The rules that will govern this convention will ensure a good nomination. He exhorted the convention to wisdom in making the platform.

CALLING IN HENRY.

At the conclusion of his remarks, he nominated Mr. Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, as temporary chairman. [Applause.]

This was unanimously agreed to.

Messrs. Barnum, of Connecticut, and Ransom, of North Carolina, were appointed a committee to conduct him to the chair.

MR. WATTERSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Watterson being presented and received with applause, said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: We are called together to determine by our wisdom whether honest government administered by honest men shall be restored to the American people, or to decide by our folly whether it is the destiny of this country to pursue an endless ever-revolving circle of partizan passion and corruption until with loss of our material well being, we lose the poor man's last hope—civil liberty itself. Every citizen of the republic, be he of one party or the other, feels and has felt for many a day the depressing influence of what are called 'hard times.' We look about us and we see neglected fields and vacan houses. The factories closed, the furnace door is shut. There are myriads of idle hands. The happy activity of prosperous life is no where to be found. Loyalists fatten whilst honest men starve. Empty the mart and shapeless the bay. What is it that has wrought so great a change in a land that under the rule of an intelligent, progressive and constitutional party advanced within half a century from the condition of a huddle of petty and squalid provincial sovereignties to a foremost place among the nations of the earth? The reasons of men must answer, partizan misrule and sectional legislation of the republicans. My friends, they alone are not responsible. With them rest the disgrace, with us the follies. These twin agents of the national mischief have kept the people of the north and south aside, and have supplied sustenance to corruption. They have disturbed values; they have unsettled prices; they have made our whole financial system a cheat and snare; they have driven the best elements of political society into exile and have organized charlatanism into a sort of a public policy, enabling the rogue to get a cheap advantage of his dupe and sacrificing every popular interest to the lust of that oligarchy which has become so encrusted with power as to believe itself entitled to rule by the sheer force of its own wrong doing. So much let us set down to the convenient pretext of war. So much to the long account of damages between north and south. It is for you to say whether the same conflict with consequences multiplied and magnified shall by any act of yours be inaugurated between the east and west. I shall not undertake, on an occasion of this kind, and in presence so imposing, to enforce the familiar lesson of mutual forbearance. Nobody doubts our capacity to make battle among ourselves. Entreating you to direct your energies to the common enemy, I ask indulgence only on my own be half. You have called me to a place of notoriety, of distinction, but of difficulty; to a place which requires the best training of a better man than I am. In taking it I trust to your confidence and good nature, and hearts incapable of an unmanly or unfair act. The work before us should relate to ideas rather than individuals. It is the issue, not the man that should engage us. We have come here to make it the people's not our fight; for free no less than for honest government; for the reform of the publicservice, and the regeneraiton of public morals, for administrative relief from administrative nihilism, embraced in the simple creed of home rule, reduced taxes and a living chance for the south as well as the north; for both the east and the west. If anything comes of our proceedings it must spring from the spirit of association and fellowship when warmed. The followers of Andrew Jackson and Silas Wright, of Hery Clay and Daniel Webster, meet together on common ground at last to wrest the government of their fathers from the clutch of rings, robbers, federal, state and municipal, and who mean to extirpate these where ever they are found, and whether they be republicans or democrats.

The points of the speech were emphasized by frequent applause.

OPENING PRAYER.

At the conclusion he introduced Rev. Mr. Marvin, who offered up prayer.

PRELIMINARY APPOINTMENTS.

The chair announced as temporary secretary Fred K. O. Prince, of Massachusetts, and T. O. Walker of Iowa, and S. K. Donovan of Ohio, as assistant secretaries. He also announced Dan Able, of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms.

THE RULES.

Mr. Abbott, of Massachusetts, moved a resolution adopting the rules of the last convention until otherwise ordered.

Mr. Littlejohn, of New York—Does this include the two-thirds rule?

Voices—Yes, yes!

If so, all right. [Applause.]

The Chair announced, it does.

The resolution was adopted.

SKIRMISHING AROUND.

Mr. Smalley, of Vermont, moved a resolution to call the states in order for the presentation of candidates. Adopted.

Mr. Wallace, of Pennsylvania, in order to have democratic precedents observed, moved to reconsider the resolution just adopted. He urged that the states should name their members of the committees on credentials and permanent organization before any other business was done. He hoped there would be no issue in voting on

Mr. Weed of New York, insisted that the resolution adopted is in accordance with precedents. Under it, credentials are received only for reference to the credential committee.

Mr. Wallace read from the official proceedings of the convention of 1868 to show that the first business was to name committees.

Mr. Doolittle suggested there be appointed a temporary secretary. He suggested that E. O. Perrin be appointed.

The chair decided this was out of order.

The motion to reconsider was rejected and the secretary proceeded with the

CALL OF ROLL OF THE STATES

for credentials.

Mr. Pomeroy of Illinois, moved that Mr. Perrin be appointed temporary secretary.

Mr. Finch of Iowa, objected as Perrin did not inherit this appointment if he had it before, and the appointment should be left to the committee on organization.

The chair finally decided the motion out of order.

A Minnesota delegate moved a resolution to call the roll of states for committees on permanent organization and credentials. Adopted.

The roll was called and committees named.

Mr. Carroll of Tennessee, moved that when the convention adjourn, that it meet again to-night and the committees just named shall then report. Adopted.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Mr Smith, of Illinois, moved to adopt a resolution that a committee of one from each state be appointed on resolutions, and all resolutions relating to the platform be referred to said committee without debate. Adopted

Mr. Weed, of New York, moved that the chairman of each delegation send to the chair the name of its members of the platform committee. No objection. It was ordered.

THE LADIES ON THE STAGE.

The chairman said the delegates from the national women's suffrage association were present, asking for a hearing. Cries of hear them. No objection. The chair announced that they would be heard.

Messrs Weed, of New York, and Smalley, of Vermont, were appointed as a committee to escort the ladies to the platform.

The chair announced that a lady had the floor and refused to hear any propositions.

Miss Phœbe Cozzens, of St. Louis, took the platform and addressed the convention with self-possession, but her voice was too weak to be heard many feet distant.

Mr. Birdsall made a point of order that there could be no committee on resolutions until after permanent organization.

The Chair said the convention had the power to decide this question for itself.

The roll was called, and the committee was named.

Various resolutions were sent up and referred, under the rule, without reading.

At eight minutes before two convention took recess.

EVENING SESSION.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—The convention re-assembled.

The committee on credentials reported all the states represented. No contested seats. The report was adopted with an amendment admitting the delegation from the district of Columbia and the territories without votes.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was read commending Gen. Jno. A. McClernand of Illinois for permanent president with vice president for each state. The report was adopted.

The committee escorted Gen. McClernand to the chair, who addressed the convention extemporaneously, arraigning the republican party for maladministration which he claimed called for a change.

GEN. MCCLERNAND'S SPEECH.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—GENTLEMEN OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION: I thank you for the distinguished honor which you have done me in directing me to preside over your deliberations. You are the delegates of the democracy of the whole union of thirty-seven states or ce unnaturally estranged but not forever united in one indivisable republic.

Brethren of one political family, with the same heritage of liberty, under equal laws and heirs of one destiny, shall we preserve and transmit that great heritage; shall we make that destiny the most glorious in the history of free people? If your deliberations, fellow democrats, to-day shall be wise; if your perception of the necessities of our times, our country, our politics, shall be just and sagacious; if your sympathy shall be quick with the hopes of a great people, then beyond all peradventure, we sahall transmit to our children and our children's children, unimpaired, this priceless heritage. Yours will be a better renown than the renown most praised by Romans; far greater than the founders of empires are the preserveis of republics.

There are no enemies of the union to-day on this continent except that administrative centralism which is congesting at the capital the currents which ought to flow out through every part, giving life to the farthest extremities of the body politic and energy to all its members; except that corruption which is the curse that centralism has never failed in any age or land to entail upon any form of government. Centralism and corruption have imposed upon ten states the rapacious tyrannies of carpet-bag rule, and since peace have added $200,000,000 to their debt. They have infected our northern states and northern cities with the same disease of extravagance and fraud They have debauched the federal government itself, and made the names of scores of its high officers and public men our public scandal, our open shame, a record of horrible incapacity, waste and fraud, and the party which has been powerless to break down and trample under foot its corruptionists, with stupendous effrontery pledged itself to a reform of which it has become incapable. That party pledged itself to restore specie payments, every year taking us farther from specie payments. So it pledged itself to civil service reform, and then dropped and mocked its reformers. So it pledged itself to pro ect American labor. and with its monstrous custom house taxation of over three thousand articles it has impoverished American labor. A few score of monopolists, a few thousand corruptionists have been enriched, but capital in the hands of those that earned it by industry and saved it by frugality, is everywhere distrustful and rusts unused, while honest labor goes about the streets begging bread.

Is this then the final outcome of a century of republican self-government? God forbid it! Gracious God! but we have wondered far from the right path; we must return to the constitutional principles of the frugal expenditures and the administrative purity of the republic. This is first the most imperious necessity of our day and nation. This is the appeal we have to make to our fellow-citizens of every former political affiliation. This is the one supreme, commanding issue, to which all others are inferior, all others trivial.

Reform! reform! reform! You shall recognize the imperious necessity if you shall guarantee in our platform the successful achievement of this arduous work of reformation. If you your own high purpose, and faithful to your pledge. Victory in November, victory in the October contests are already yours. Incarnate the vital issue of reform into your candidates and platform, and the states that have honored Douglass and Lincoln, the states that to-day honor Hendricks and Thurman, Hancock and Parker, Bayard and Tilden, these states with all of their vast populations will rise like the woods and the winds that followed the fleeting Orpheus and follow you to victory.

Mr. Belmont of New York, read a series of resolutions, arraigning the republican party and appealing to the American people to forget civil war after eleven years of peace and put at an end all sectional strife. He accompanied them with some earnest remarks. The resolutions were referred.

Adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

POST-CONVENTION UTTERANCES
Telegram to the Constitution.

After the adjournment, Hon. Voorhees of Indiana, was vociferously called upon and uttered an eloquent speech on the issue of the campaign.

MR. SUNSET COX'S SPEECH.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Hon. S. S. Cox was called out. He said the house of representatives had passed twelve appropriation bills and sent them to the senate having cut down the republican estimates $48,000,000.

A voice "stick to it."

Mr. Cox: We will let the thunders of this convention follow the electric flash of the telegraph and exhort the democratic house to stand by their action and they will. Proceeding to consider the asserted dangers of such an action, he said that he thought we could do without an army until after the November election. Why, the navy could be spared from protecting a commerce which bad legislation and injudicious taxation had destroyed. As to the Indian bureau, if border men are only turned loose they will soon crush out these contractors in Indian warfare. He touched upon and favored the repeal of the resumption act. The best business men east and west concur that resumption in '79 is utterly impossible. Touching upon the issues of the campaign he asked, "Who shall be your standard-bearer? [He was overwhelmed by cries of "Tilden! Tilden!" long continued.] Mr. Cox said that when he asked that question, he intended to answer it himself [Laughter.] Referring in terms of respect to Tilden, he said he (Cox) also knew the strength of the objections to him. He also referred successively and complimentarily to Hancock, Hendricks, and the Great Unknown, every time.]The audience renewed its cries of "Tilden, Tilden."] In conclusion he said the democratic party had no common contest in meeting the ticket of Hayes and Wheeler, and he appealed to good, hard common sense to name the democratic leaders in no haste but carefully and discreetly after a full consideration of all the necessities of the hour.

The Kendrick Case.
Special to The Atlanta Constitution.

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 27, 1876.

The evidence in the Kendrick case has closed and one speech been delivered.

The sensation of the day was an hour's statement of Kendrick, very ingeniously denying every thing and claiming that the evidence established his innocence.

The statement of Kendrick will be given in full in to-morrow's Enquirer-Sun S.

McDuffie for Johnson.
Special to The Atlanta Constitution.

AUGUSTA, June 27, 1876.

McDuffie county elected Johnson delegates by a vote of two to one in a poll of over three hundred. C. S.

To the Public.

Certain publications in the newspapers of this city in reference to the use of liquor in the late canvass, are thought by my friends to require some notice from me. I have only this to state, that I never contributed one cent for the purpose, or any other electioneering purpase, either directly or indirectly. Whatever may have been done in this matter, was without my knowledge and contrary to my well-known wishes. A. H COLQUITT.

Telegraphic Brevities.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The senate foreign relations committee to day heard Senators West and Norwood in opposition to the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty bill, and Commissioner Allen in its favor. The committee postpones action on it till another meeting Maj. Potts was present.

MOBILE, June 27.—The regular republican organization in this county held the largest and most enthusiastic meeting last night that has been held here for years, ratifying heartily the works and nominees of the Cincinnati convention.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The convention of the national board of trade met here to-day. There is a large attendance of representatives also present from the associated board of commerce of Great Britain and Ireland. Frederick Fraley, of Philadelphia, was elected president.

The Oldest Man in the State.

Gwinnett Herald.

There lives in the lower part of Gwinnett on the Decatur road, an old gentleman by the name of John Leitch. He has lived at this place for many years, and while his age is not positively known, from the best information that can be obtained, he is between one hundred and ten and one hundred and thirteen years old. It is known that he is not under one hundred and ten.

During last week we passed his residence and enquired about him, and was informed by his wife that he was out in the field ploughing. He is still hearty and able to do considerable work. On account of his straightened circumstances, he is compelled to work in the field to support himself and aged wife.

We understand the county authorities have been assisting him some time until this year, but he is needing help now as much as ever, and in our opinion it would be commendable in the commissioners to continue to aid him. He is, so far as we know, the only survivor of a former century in the country.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'G CO., OF GEORGIA, ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

MESSRS. J T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one largest size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used it, and as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, as you are aware, and after using it, I purchased two more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, of this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three years or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth: the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer, Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

The Georgia Banking and Trust Company vs John R. Wallace. March term 1876, Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia Present the Honorable Cincinnatus Peeples, judge of said court

IT APPEARING to the court, by the petition of the Georgia Banking and Trust Company, that on the fourteenth day of December in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and seventy-five, John R Wallace in said county made and delivered to A K Seago his certain instrument in writing commonly called a promissory note, being dated the day and year aforesaid, whereby ninety days after the date thereof he promised to pay to the order of said Seago, forty-nine hundred and fifty-three 93-100 dollars, at the office of the Georgia Banking & Trust Company of Atlanta, Ga, for value received, with interest from maturity at the rate of ten per cent, per annum, and also ten per cent counsel fees and expenses in collecting said note which said note was sold by said Seago, in the course of trade and for a valuable consideration to petitioner and became and now is the property of petitioner, the said Georgia Banking and Trust Company and that afterwards, on the fourteenth day of December, 1875, to secure the payment of said instrument executed and delivered to the Georgia Banking and Trust Company, his deed of morigage, whereby he conveyed to the said Georgia Banking and Trust Company its successors and assigns, the following described real estate consisting of city lots and tracts of land, lying and being in the county of Fulton and state of Georgia, to-wit: city lots in the city of Atlanta to-wit:

1. A city lot known as block number fifteen of original land lot number forty-six (46) surrounded by Irwin, Jackson, Old Wheat and Rolling Mill streets, containing ten acres more or less, except seventy feet, on the corner of Irwin and Rolling Mill streets, being the northeast corner on which the St. John's Methodist church is situated.

2. Also a city lot known as the east half of block number fourteen (14) of original land number 46, surrounded by Irwin, Jackson and old Wheat street and DeGive's lot, except seventy-five feet by two hundred feet, heretofore sold to Wm C Lawshe, now occupied by Mrs Bird and a small strip on the southwest corner, heretofore deed to L DeGive, his fence being the line. The above (2) two city lots are in the city of Atlanta and contain fifteen acres more or less, less the reservations above set forth.

3 Also a city lot on Collins street described as follows: commencing at Mrs Mary D Robinson's lot one hundred feet from the northeast corner of Currier and Collins street, and running north on Collins street ninety-five feet, more or less, to J D Fagan's line or lot, thence east one hundred fee (100) more or less to the rear of Fagan's lot, thence north one hundred (100) feet to John T Grant's lot, thence east (500) five hund

ARREST OF LIZZIE PATTERSON

Excitement at the Union Passenger Depot.

Yesterday morning Lizzie Patterson, a colored girl well known in police circles, was arrested near the union passenger depot, and gave the officers trouble enough to create a first class excitement. Lizzie was before the police court only a few days ago charged with vagrancy, and saved herself from the chain gang by proving that she was working out Yesterday morning she started out to stir up a breeze, and was successful enough to raise a well sized whirl-wind. About 9 o'clock she was found by a policeman drunk near the car shed, and cursed out everybody who came near her. When Lizzie gets drunk she means business, and so the policeman who discovered her tried to arrest her. She fought with the fury of an aroused tigress, biting, scratching and trying to strike them with rocks.

The scene drew together quite a crowd of excited people. Lizzie had to be knocked down before she would surrender; and then as she obstinately refused to walk she was dragged by the hands to the guard house. Here she played having a fit for some time, but was put in the dungeon where she speedily quieted. We understand that the conduct of the officers in dragging her through the streets, has been criticised by some, but they claim that they had no other way of bringing her, and did not use any unnecessary violence. The woman is beyond doubt the worst pest in this city, and it is a pity that the law does not provide an asylum of some sort, where people of her character can be confined for life.

—Charlotte (N. C.) Observer: Capt.

Potts is one of the very best of practical railroad men He is devoted to, to the Air-Line, and it may be sure that nothing goes wrong on this road through any fault of his. He is clear headed, skilful and untiring, and is indispensable to the Air Line.

JAMES' JUBILEE.

THE SENTIMENTS OF ONE WHO SEEKS THE HONOR FOR THE HONOR'S SAKE

Speeches Made Upon the Occasion of the Grand Serenade.

We yesterday published an account of the grand serenade given on Monday evening by his friends to the Hon. John H. James. From that report we were forced to omit the speeches but we cheerfully make room for them to day for the pleraure of the public.

CALLS FOR JAMES

went up from every part of the throng until that gentleman appeared upon an upper balcony at the front of the house. When he was recognized a deafening cheer went up from the host of friends below, and Mr James seemed to feel the inspiration of that pride which every man has a right to indulge upon such an unusual occasion. Without the form or necessity for an introduction, to that crowd of friends, Mr. James proceeded to address them.

MR JAMES' SPEECH.

Ladies and gentlemen and fellow-citizens. [Applause] It affords me great pleasure to meet you upon an occasion like this. Nearly 26 years ago I came to make my home in Atlanta I came here from a farm 2 miles distant, in a wagon. [A voice—"we know it."] I commenced work amongst you at ten dollars per month. You will please excuse me for alluding to myself but I think that, as I have been alluded to so much the past week, it is important for me to do so now I have tried to live among you an upright and honest man [applause] You have endorsed me, and I thank you for it. [applause and voice—"we'll always do that!"] I have held but one office during my life, and that was by your suffrages—by the suffrages of the democracy of the city of Atlanta. I have labored for that honor, but, gentlemen, to-night I say before you and my God, that I made while mayor of Atlanta in the year 1872, the salary, assigned to me prior to that time by the council—$2,500—and any man, I do not care who he is or where he comes from, who says to the contrary, utters an untruth. [Applause and cries of "that's so!" "we believe you!"] Gentlemen, we have had a hard struggle for the past few days. Friends have fought friends (with their tongues) and many persons have said hard things of each other. Our democratic friends have been arrayed one against another, but the time is now passed for these differences. [Cheers] Let us lay them all aside and let each one of us say this was our own family quarrel and let us start out afresh. [Cheers.] Down with that man who will hold his friend up for office and bear malice with those who win over him. If you have said hard thinks about me I forgive you and call upon you to ask your God to forgive you. [Cheers]

Since Saturday I have been put forward as a candidate for the office of governor of Georgia. Not until then have I been known as the people's man, or had any interest in the canvass, but to-day I am charged with six delegates from Fulton county to vote for me for that high office in the convention on [Loud applause] Although I was born in Germany I am living in Atlanta first and Peachtree street next [cheers.] Mr. Wright insisted that it was not necessary for me to be a candidate for governor of Georgia. He thought a great banker should be governor once in a while Fulton was a great county and had made a good selection and he hoped the balance of the state would follow her example. He wanted the democracy organized to fight radicalism and redeem the nation. He said:

"If the people of Georgia have conferred upon me as a delegate from the county of Fulton I shall follow your instructions I shall first vote for James as long as there is a hope of his being governor of Georgia and after that for the best interests of Georgia." [Cheers.]

The crowd partook of refreshments in the shape of ice cream, cake, lemonade and melons, and then dispersed.

The occasion was one of memorable significance.

PBLAXA MEDICINIÆ.

A Peculiar Old Book—How Medicines Were Administered—Curious Historical Facts Connected with It.

We were handed a rare and curiously printed old book published in London in 1668, entitled Pblaxa Medicinke or one which states itself as a cabinet of select and practical chemical preparations.

The volume is printed in italics, and is undoubtedly original and in queer phyliology and genuine in its details. Despite of the English origin and its quack decoctions it reached its seventh edition. It appears that the book was published in London when printing was in its incipiency and science not much valuable from art. The qualification of printer was bestowed only upon those who were recognized printers, and members of this art were then represented as gentlemen apparently.

The recipes are always childish in the book and bear evidence that the belief in witchcraft still influenced the minds of men at that day.

It is strange to think that such an old book at this, with all of its quackery, should contain therein so much of pretended materia medica, when we reflect that Harvey had already disclosed the theory of the circulation of the blood. Sir Isaac Newton already balancing his mind on the laws of gravitations and men of those days already springing into the manhood of intellect and knowledge, and long after to make the "golden age of literature" under Queen Anne's reign during the first year of the 18th century when men as Swift, Addison and Alexander Pope

The great revolution which in 1688 established "Civil and religious liberty in England" was already opening the minds of men, but this quaint book, or medical work, is an evidence of the fact that their bodies had still to suffer for perhaps half a century longer from the superstitious medical practices of a less enlightened age.

We would refer any one interested in old manuscripts or antique writings to view this rare specimen of ancient lore at Mr. George Sharp's, jeweler, Whitehall street this morning, where it will be on inspection.

THE RECORDER.

Trials yesterday in the Police Court

The police court was attended by a very large crowd yesterday.

The trial of the Carbine case brought a good many, and the fight between the Whitehall street dry goods men attracted as many more. The latter was the first case tried After hearing the evidence the recorder fined one of the combatants $10 and costs, and discharged the other.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Kate Hamilton, a mulatto whose face is very familiar to the recorder, was up again for the same old thing too much whisky Kate threw herself outside of a couple of quarts of this precious fluid Monday night, and got on the war path. She had demoralized almost an entire street, and was almost opening the campaign in another, when her career was brought to an untimely close. Her bill is $10 and costs.

MORE JEALOUSY.

William Corvine deserted the wife of his boyom a few nights since to run after one Ella Foster. The good wife heard of Will ams' little game, and determined to enliven it. The opposing forces met at a street corner, and the wife did enliven things. William was jerked out of his coat, and Ella's head looked like it had been struck by lightning. But William was not disposed to submit quietly to such ungentleel handling. When his wife paused for breath, he gathered her in one hand and his stick in the other, and dusted her off so completely that neither she nor her clothes will need washing for a month. Ella in the meantime did not stop to gather up the fragments o. her hair but separated William pays $15 and costs, and his wife $5 and costs.

KICKED OUT.

Sam Young tried to stop at a boarding house without any money, but Sam didn't stop very long. He was elevated gently on the proprietor's toe, and deserted on the sidewalk outside, with such velocity that he ruined the seat of his only pair of breeches, and destroyed two feet square of the pavement. As Sam had suffered enough, the court dismissed the case, and this concluded the business.

PERSONAL POINTS.

—Irwinton Southerner & Appeal: The venerable secretary of state, N. C. Barnett, is an aged, vigorous and well preserved gentleman, and fills his office with that dignity and promptness only acquired by long experience Col. W. L. Goodwin, comptroller general, is a most efficient officer, and during his administration of the office he has restored order out of chaos, systematized the heavy and complicated business of the department, and has made it a model of neatness, industry, accuracy and promptness. Georgia never had a better officer at the head of this important department.

—Macon Telegraph: Rev. Lovic Pierce was present at the Wesleyan female college commencement. With the glory of his ninety-one years of age—more than three score and ten of which have been the ministry—shining upon his face and in his silvery hair, he stood there like a blessing upon the people Upon his feeble mortality the lustre of the immortal appears to shine, and with one hand stretched toward the gateway of heaven, the other he can still grasp the hands of his fellow mortal and say, "Come beloved, this is the way." A wonderful old man he is and wonderfully blessed by his Master. His feeble frame is still lighted with an intellect that time scarcely impairs and though his voice is weak he was still able to invoke the blessing of the Almighty upon the institution which has been as a daughter unto him, in the great love which he has always borne it.

SENT TO JAIL.

Tom Carbine's Securities Give Him Up—The Father's Condition Worse—Trials of the Wife and Daughter.

Yesterday morning the securities upon the bonds of Tom Carbine presented themselves before Justice McConnell, and withdrew their names. The warrants to answer which the bonds were given were for the assault he is charged with having made upon his father and upon the negro. It seems that the securities had come to the conclusion that while the present state of feeling existed among the members of this unfortunate family, it would be unwise to give Tom his liberty, as the chances were that he would either renew the trouble with his father or uncle, and that it would be best to keep him locked up for a while. This withdrawal of the securities necessitated Tom's removal from the guard house to the jail. where he will have to remain until his father recovers sufficiently to appear in court. The constable came after him about eight o'clock yesterday morning, but before taking his prisoner away he allowed him

A PARTING INTERVIEW WITH HIS MOTHER AND SISTER.

The scene was one that deeply affected all who witnessed it. Tom had hitherto borne himself under his repeated arrests with great indifference, but the idea of going to jail and leaving his mother and sister in the guard house unnerved him, and he broke down completely. The women threw their arms around him and clung to him with desperation, weeping as bitterly as if they were satisfied they would never see him again But Tom soon recovered his fortitude, and was marched off while the others were advised to prepare themselves for their approaching trials before the recorder. They had secured the services of Judge W. F. Wright, who represented their interests fully.

THE MOTHER AND DAUGATER FINED.

The principal witnesses introduced against them before the recorder, were the police officers who made the arrests and Dr. Ascher. These testified to the condition of the temper made by the defendants towards Mr Carbine as he lay in bed suffering from the blow his son had given him. It was also proved that they had used every effort to prevent attacking and beating him, and that the wife did strike him. Threats and very abusive language were also proven.

The defendants tried to show a long course of brutal treatment of the family by the father. That he had threatened and tried to kill his son; that he would not provide clothing and provisions for his wife and children, and that he was addicted to the use of liquor, and in short, that he had given them great provocation. The evidence was much stronger against the mother and daughter than the recorder, taking this fact into consideration, fined the former $10 and costs and the latter $5 and costs. He administered some good advice to them, cautioned the latter, and discharged them to go home and sin no more. The mother and daughter paid their fines which terminated the city cases, but they were at once taken charge of on the warrants of the peace warrants sworn out by Mrs. Carbine's brother in law, and carried before a magistrate.

In the mean time Mr. Carbine, the brother-in law, reconsidered his act in about taking out the peace warrants, and concluded that he would not press them. The women, much to their relief, were informed of the altered condition of affairs as soon as they entered the court room and suffered to depart.

MR. CARBINE'S CONDITION.

Friends of Mr. Carbine, who called to see him yesterday, report his condition as being rather unfavorable. He did not rest any on Monday night, and complained of being in great pain. He thinks he has been injured internally by the blow Mr. Carbine also stated that it was impossible for him to try to live with his family any longer. He has given up the task as hopeless. If he recovers it is his intention to leave them and reside with his brother in another county.

Excursion Arrangements.

Major John G. Longstreet has perfected arrangements with the Air Line to run an excursion train from Atlanta to this city on Saturday evenings, at such rates as will enable him to make the whole expense to excursionists, including hotel fare till after breakfast Monday mornings, railroad fare and all, $6 25 This is as cheap as any one could ask it, and gives a splendid opportunity to spend the hot Sundays at the grand Piedmont. Tickets will be for sale at the railroad offices.—Gainesville Southron.

"Our Children."

This is the attractive title of a still more attractive work by Rev Atticus G Haygood, D. D, president of Emory college. It is published by Nelson & Phillips New York and J W Burke & Co., Macon. The introduction is from the pen of the venerable Rev Lovick Pierce. The work treats of the family, child hood, home influences and the Sunday school and its functions. It is well and ably written and enunciated will meet with a response from every Christian heart. It is free from denominational bias and is a work that should be in the hand of every Christian. We predict for it a large sale.

TOWN TOPICS.

Fulton Superior Court.

HON. C. PEEPLES, JUDGE.

Court met at its regular hour, and took up the criminal docket.

State vs. Jim Jenkins, colored; burglary in the daytime. Charge of breaking into the Western and Atlantic railroad shops and stealing car brasses. Verdict, guilty; sentence, three years hard labor in the penitentiary.

Jeffries and Ivy, for defense.

State vs. Henry Phillips, colored; burglary in the night time. Charge, that during last March he and some others broke into Mr. Latham's store and stole a quantity of meat and lard. Verdict guilty; sentence, five years hard labor in the penitentiary.

Col. Spencer represented the defense in this case, and will probably take it to the supreme court.

The July number of the National Sunday School Teacher is full of good things. It is a national favorite, and should find its way to every household. It says of our state Sunday school convention: "The Georgia convention this year was an improvement over its predecessors. The attendance was good and the enthusiasm was great The convention unanimously ratified the invitation given by the president to the international convention to hold its next session in Georgia and then ratified the president himself by electing him to the chief office for the third time."

ATLANTA, GA., June 26, 1876.

Editors Constitution: Please do "No Name" justice by contradicting a few statements made by our burly squibbler of the Commonwealth as regards to the large class of better citizens who would not vote on account of the disgusting advertisements paraded in the morning papers to-wit: "Such as 'ten thousand glasses of James' beer at No Name' 'Colquitt beer at No Name,' 'James' whisky at No Name,' and others of similar import."

Now had this man common sense he would have voted for the county man and helped to assist home enterprise as he is begging for that from May to dec ember, but in his lack of knowledge as an editor he utters three distinct lies in the above. Very respectfully,

SHELBY,

SUNSHINE.

MRS. KATIE E. W.

Tho' a cloud may linger, and shade our pathway,
Behind it is glowing a glittering ray,
Await but its transit, and lo! a bright spendor
Pervades all at once, a shadowless day.

So it is, with the cares and crosses of life—
When oft our hearts are filled with strife;
There will come as a balm of sweet relief
Some bright sparkling joy, dispelling our grief.

To all is decreed some hour of sorrow,
When dark and dear seems the coming morrow,
But perchance, there comes with a morning ray,
Some new born hope, which gladdens the day.

There is in each cup a dewy drop bright
There is in each life a starless night;
Despair threw her mantle o'er Gethsemane,
While hope, bids us on from Calvary.

"Into each life some rain must fall,"
But God has given his sunshine to all,
And a light still greater yet beckons us on,
Which o'er our pathway for ages hath shone.

—A boy named Box, lives at Obediah Strickland's on the Okefenokee swamp not two years old that weighs eighty-five pounds.

—Major R. N. Ely is electioneering in Clinch county for Gen. Colquitt.

Brunswick Appeal.

—Shipments of turpentine and rosin are increasing every week.

—Wool and watermelons are coming in freely.

Louisville News and Farmer.

—Mrs Mary J. Whitaker who in a fit of lunacy, killed her husband and is now confined in the lunatic asylum is hopelessly ill.

—Rev. W. L. Kilpatrick has been called to the pastorate of the Louisville Baptist church and accepted it. He preaches fifteen sermons every month, and is one of the principals of the Hepzibah high school.

—We have in our possession a corn cob that very much resembles a hand. It is quite a curiosity and was grown on the place of Mrs Wm. Brinson.

—Judge S. Arington, who is blind, made so about three years ago by disease, has been a deacon of the Baptist church for fifty years. His exhortation to the newly made deacons on Sabbath last was very affecting.

Griffin News.

—Uncle Dave Johnson arose and made a solemn statement before the convention yesterday that "he was born in six miles of Griffin for the last thirty years."

—Our "heavy editor" having gone to St. Louis, our readers can account for the dullness of our editorial columns

Madison Home Journal.

—Col Jack W. Johnson was in the city yesterday, en route to Philadelphia arrayed in striped stockings and side whiskers.

—The county court was occupied on Wednesday by the case of the State vs. Walter Willson charged with seduction. After the examination of one witness, Judge Andrews bound over Mr. Willson for appearance at the superior court in the sum of $1,000. Messrs McHenry & McHenry for prosecution, Col. Billups and Messrs Foster & Foster for defense.

Carroll County Times.

—Gaines has returned from Atlanta He reports progress with the Belle street widow.

—We have seen a letter from Mr. L. P. Mandeville, now in Vermont, near the Canadian border, to a relative here, which is written on birch bark. It seems to answer about as well as paper, being quite thin and pliable, with a firm, good surface, for writing on.

Macon Telegraph.

—The jury in the case of Judge Hill against the mayor and council of the city of Macon, in which Judge Hill claimed one thousand dollars damage to his lot by excavations in front of his front gate, the jury returned a verdict of six hundred dollars, after being out six hours. The case will probably be carried to the supreme court.

Washington Gazette

—Frank Holland has taken charge of the Washington hotel while Dr. S. G. Holland keeps the teeth of the public all O. K.

Americus Republican.

—Our sanctum is ornated by a piece of artistic workmanship which evidences the most remarkable sculptural genius and delicate taste on the part of the amateur sculpturer, Mr. R. M. Stewart, of Americus. The conception is delicate and very suggestive. It is an hymeneal design, representing figuratively the marital union by the kissing, billing, and cooing of two white winged doves that beautify the interior of a beautifully ornamented bridal house. The production was carved ont of Tupelo wood with no other instrument but an ordinary pocket knife and chisel.

Greenville Vindicator.

—Eggs are selling at 8 cents per dozen. Revill was away which caused the decline.

Rome News.

—Policeman Dowdle attempted to arrest Bawley Davis. Davis jumped off a of a bridge some twenty feet. He shook up the ground muchly, but didn't escape.

—H W Barrow of Milledgeville in Brunswick.

—Viola C. Millank of Savannah.

—Isaac Ellington of Wilkes county.

—Joseph Laurence of Dahlonega.

—Jesse Parker of Quitman county.

MISCELLANEOUS POINTS.

—The doggerel of the average Savannah poet (?) is so thin that it has to be published two or three times to be strong enough to stand. The cause of so many deaths in Savannah is apparent. They were Harrissed by the thought of having to read such stuff and preferred death to it.

—During the absence of its city editor the local column of the Augusta Constitutionalist got to be newsy.

—We regret to learn that, our esteemed confere of the Carrolton Times has lost one of his precious little jewels, who was translated to Heaven soon after its birth.

—The blackberry crop in Hall county is a success and Van Estes is happy.

RUPTURE

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN cautions the afflicted to beware of Charlatans going about selling imitation appliances and poisonous mixtures as his curative method. One of these fellows, a Dry Goods Clerk, W. G. Crempien, was arrested in Pennsylvania for calling himself Doctor. The game is to extract $50 00, and even $100 00, from the unsuspect, while Dr. SHERMAN'S Genuine Appliances and Curative Compound is reduced to $20 00. Keep the Liver Active.

The above is a sound health maxim. In order that the functions of digestion, evacuation and secretion shall be discharged with that degree of regularity and vigor which is essential to the well being of both body and mind, the liver, upon whose activity they are dependent for their due performance, must be kept in good working order. Calomel and blue pills, besides being hurtful mineral drugs, only partially and temporarily rectify disorders or sluggishness of the great biliary gland. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the contrary, accomplish thoroughly what the above medicines fail in doing, and are besides a safe as well as potent remedy for the disorders of the stomach, bowels and organs of urination, as well as an unequalled general invigorant. They are, moreover, a sterling antidote to malaria.

Factory Property FOR SALE.

ON TUESDAY, the fourth day of July next, we will sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder, before the Court House door, in Douglasville, in Douglas county, all the lands, water powers, &c., belonging to the late

New Manchester Manufacturing Company,

formerly known as the "Sweet Water Factory." The tract contains one hundred and thirty-three acres, more or less, and consists of land lot 882, and parts of land lots 888, 890, 838, 864 and 863, all in the 18th district of originally Cherokee, but now Douglas county. Sweet Water Creek runs through the tract, and affords one of the Best Water Powers in the South, sufficient for running the largest factory. The factory building was burned during the war, but foundation and walls still remain, and the dam is in good order, and the factory buildings can soon be replaced. There are now a number of operatives houses conveniently situated. The Marietta and North Georgia Railroad runs near the tract. No location in the South affords better natural Advantages for a Factory.

This sale will be made under a decree (for partition) rendered by the Superior Court of Douglas county.

Terms of Sale—One-half cash, and balance in six months with ten per cent. interest

Capitalists will be shown the property by calling on either of the undersigned at Douglasville. Titles undebubted.

Map of the property can be seen at the office of McConnell & Heyward, Attorneys, Atlanta, Ga.
